Northstar COO Bob Van Wetter to Speak at IA Watch’s Cybersecurity for Financial Services Conference

Denver, CO – Northstar COO and Chief Compliance Officer Bob Van Wetter will serve as a panelist for IA Watch’s Cybersecurity for Financial Services Conference. The full-day conference will be held on October 6th at the Washington Hilton in Washington, D.C. and will offer insight into the latest cyber risks and solutions on how to stay safe.

Van Wetter will be speaking on the panel, “Tried and True Techniques to Control Who Gains Access to Your System,” which explores how to set logins, passwords and other controls to block cyber intruders. A founder of Northstar, Van Wetter has been overseeing the firm’s compliance and cybersecurity efforts since 2013. He is also involved with portfolio management, equity research and client services.

IA Watch has structured its conference to take straight aim at the key topics the SEC has outlined for firms when it comes to cybersecurity. The conference offers a forum for investment advisors from around the country to gather timely insights and solutions from an astute blend of prominent colleagues, IT pros and cyber experts.
