Northstar President Fred Taylor Named 2017 Philanthropic Leadership Award Winner by The Denver Foundation

Denver, CO – Northstar President and co-founder Fred Taylor has been named a recipient of The Denver Foundation’s annual Philanthropic Leadership Award. The Foundation will honor this year’s award winners on November 14, 2017 at a reception at the Denver Museum of Nature and Science.

Taylor was selected for his outstanding work in furthering philanthropy in the Denver community. Throughout his career, Taylor has used his investment acumen to help some of Denver’s largest non-profits improve their financial futures. He serves as treasurer and vice chairman for the Children’s Hospital Colorado Foundation and is also chairman of the hospital’s investment committee. Taylor is also a member of CollegeInvest’s Board of Directors and serves on the Colorado State Land Board’s five-person public school investment fund board.

He also recently spearheaded the revival of Dads for Daughters, a charitable program of the Women’s Foundation of Colorado that allows donors to honor the important women in their lives.

In addition, Taylor is past chairman of the investment committees of The Denver Foundation, the Colorado Zoological Trust, The Women’s Foundation of Colorado and Kent Denver School.

“I am honored and humbled to receive such recognition. I love our state very much and feel strongly about the importance of contributing to the organizations that serve our citizens,” said Taylor.

Established in 1995, Denver-based Northstar Investment Advisors LLC is an independent registered investment advisor serving individuals and families. Northstar employs an Income First Total Return investment strategy, focused on creating growing and sustainable income streams for those who need to live off their money.
